

Canton School Board, Musicians' Union Clash Over School Dances

(By Associated Press)

CANTON, Feb. 23.—The Canton board of education and the Canton-Massillon local AFL-American Federation of Musicians wages a verbal battle today over conflicting definitions of "educational" and "play for pay" music in the city's high schools.

The controversy opened when A. J. Bayless, Lincoln high school band director, told the board a union representative threatened disciplinary action and "blacklisting" of union members of the high school's orchestra to prevent them from playing for school dances.

Union officials purchased a half-page newspaper advertisement yesterday to open round No. 2 with the charge that school executives were attempting a "smear attack" against the AFM.

The unionists said AFL orchestras had been hired to play for high school "proms" until School Supt. Jesse H. Mason "issued orders to the schools to stop employing union dance orchestras and require the students to play for their own dances."

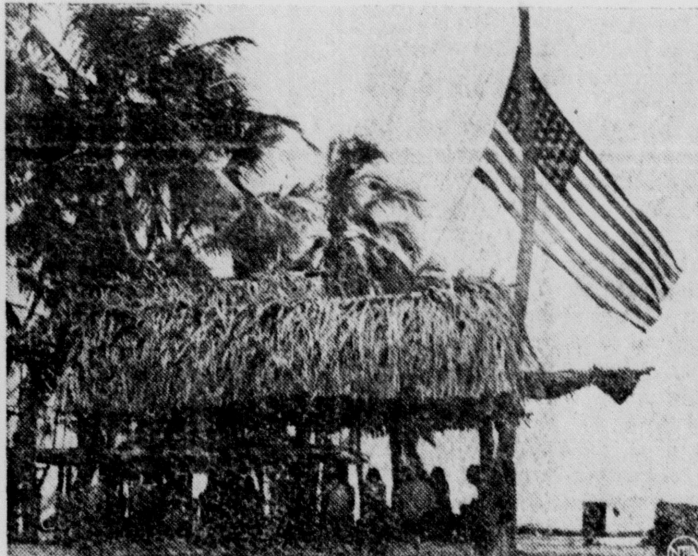

The advertisement alleged that students were "taxed" for school activities funds, and that pupils would prefer union orchestras for their dances.

Round No. 3 went to School Board President Fred K. Damer who termed the union's accusation "ridiculous," and asserted, "Our school musicians do not play for pay, but for instruction."

COUNCIL MEETING, like that pictured above in Bikini's thatched-roofed council house, voted unanimously to sacrifice the atoll for A-bomb tests. Council, consisting of 14 men and six women tribal leaders, meets weekly to discuss educational and religious matters.

RETURN M'VAY TO NAVY DUTY

Leniency Is Given Former Captain of Sunken Indianapolis

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The Navy announced today that Capt. Charles B. McVay, III, is guilty of negligence in the sinking of the Cruiser Indianapolis but the sentence had been remitted and he had been restored to duty.

At the same time the Navy issued severe reprimands against four officers, two of them regular navy, for failure to act promptly when the cruiser became overdue.

Navy officials said the reprimands in the case of the regular officers might interfere with their future promotion.

Recommended Leniency

McVay, commander of the Indianapolis, previously had been cleared by a court martial on another charge of "culpable inefficiency." This was based on an allegation that he failed to issue a timely order to abandon ship before the cruiser went down July 30, 1945, between Guam and Leyte.

The court recommended leniency in convicting McVay on the negligence charge that he "suffered a vessel of the navy to be hazarded" by failing to steer a zig zag course in an area in which submarines might be encountered.

The leniency recommendation was concurred in by Admiral Ernest J. King who was chief of naval operations at the time of the disaster, and by Secretary of Navy Forrestal.

McVay has been released from arrest and restored to duty.

Others Reprimanded

Letters of reprimand—which will go into the personal records of the officers—were issued to Commodore N. C. Gillett who was in temporary command of the Philippine sea frontier headquarters at the time of the sinking; to Capt. A. M. Grum, operations officer at headquarters; and to Lieut. Stuart B. Gibson, another member of the operations staff at headquarters. A letter of admonition was issued to Lieut. Cmdr. Jules C. Sancho, acting port director at the headquarters then located at Tacloban, Leyte.

Gen. Yamashita, Convicted Of War Crimes, Is Hanged

(By Associated Press)

Gen. Yamashita

MANILA, Feb. 23.—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, one-time be-medalled conqueror of Singapore, was hanged on a flood-lighted gallows before dawn today as a Japanese war criminal, wearing patched and slouchy American khaki fatigues.

His last words a prayer "for the emperor's long life," the despoiler of Manila died in disgrace at 3:02 a. m. along with two subordinates; his body was sewed up in canvas; and he was carted away to a nameless grave.

The stolid, 60-year-old man had been stripped of his uniform and all military appurtenances before he was executed 30 miles southeast of Manila near Los Banos where his soldiers a year ago butchered 2,000 Filipino civilians.

Makes Statement

Yamashita and his subordinates would have preferred to die before a firing squad, considered less shameful.

Earlier, when the execution orders had been read to him, he had prepared a statement. Given out in broken English by an interpreter, it was a mixture of self-defense and gratitude:

"I was carrying out my duty as Japanese high commander of the Japanese army in the Philippine Islands. . . . I don't ashamed in front of God for what I have done when I have died. . . . I have had a good treatment, kindful attitude from your good-natured officers. . . . I don't blame my executioners. I will pray God bless them."

With him from the barbed-wire enclosure went Lt. Col. Seichi Ohta, whose Kempei Tai (thought police) once made arrests even for what a helpless suspect might be thinking. The third doomed man was Takuma Higashigaki, a civilian interpreter.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—Stuffed in a closet off a blood-spattered kitchen, the body of Mrs. Rae O. Krohn, 32, attractive divorcee, was found last night, clad only in a nightgown.

Det. Lieut. C. E. Ream of Wilshire division reported a few minutes later the detention for questioning of a man found driving the dead woman's car. He was being ticketed by traffic officers for a crossing signal violation when the pickup order for the car was broadcast, Ream said.

Rocked on suspicion of murder after several hours of quizzing was Robert L. Dierwirth, 31, discharged soldier, who Ream said had been rooming at Mrs. Krohn's home for the past two weeks. Reams said Dierwirth was the man driving Mrs. Krohn's car.

The detective said Mrs. Krohn had been brutally beaten about the head with a hammer, found near the body. Neighbors, he added, told of seeing a man leave the house late in the afternoon.

Argentine Police Arrest Terrorists, Seize Arms

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 23.—Argentine police said today that a number of men had been arrested and a large quantity of arms seized in what was described as "a terrorist plot" to cause trouble before the Sunday general election.

The police did not immediately identify the group with any political party, but contended that among those held were several known to be Communists. The Communist party has been supporting Jose Tamborini, opponent of Col. Juan Peron for the presidency.

Stassen Attacks Half-Way Decisions Of U. S., Russia

(By Associated Press)

TOLEDO, Feb. 23.—Toledo United States and Russia must stop making "halfway decisions" and evolve a policy that will enable them to meet their responsibilities to the people of the world, says Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota.

In a Washington day address before the Toledo club last night, Stassen listed what he termed five existing "strong pillars" for future friendly relations with Russia:

1. The peoples of both nations are genuinely friendly with each other.

2. Both nations earnestly want and will gain by world peace and collective security.

3. Both are members of the United Nations organizations and have accepted the solemn obligations of its charter with reservations.

4. Neither country needs any land or resources which the other holds, and

5. Each nation respects the ability and courage of the other.

However, among the greatest obstacles to continuing friendship with Russia are the activities of two extremes in the United States, the speaker said.

He described these as (1) the extreme "Communist left" which follows a line that is "unfriendly to the success of our American social, political and economic system and breeds suspicion within this country of the Soviet union" and (2) the extreme "reactionary right" which "violently attacks everything Russia does, distorts facts and multiplies suspicion."

Two Russian obstacles to friendly relations with this nation, Stassen said, are the restriction on freedom of worship and the lack of free access to information.

By Soviet Approval Allied Newsmen Inspect Mukden For First Time

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first story received from Mukden since nine Allied correspondents were permitted to enter Manchuria nearly a week ago and were held incommunicado 54 hours by Russian authorities. The story was delayed two days presumably for lack of quick communications. Copy was flown from Mukden and radioed from Shanghai.)

By SPENCER DAVIS Associated Press Writer

MUKDEN, Feb. 20.—(Delayed)—This scared, disheveled Manchurian arena city was thrown open by Russian military authorities today to nine Allied correspondents who previously had been confined 54 hours in a hotel.

It was at Mukden that the incident which led to the Sino-Japanese war developed 14 years ago.

For the past six months, rumors emanating from this one time stronghold of Manchuria warlords were purple with intimations of banditry, rape, looting, kidnapping, arson and murder as violent as in the days of Genghis Khan.

Tantamount to internment. Correspondents, wishing to check the validity of these accounts and to see what was happening in Manchuria's postwar world, were balked by both Chinese and Russian officials until today, when 46-year old Maj. Gen. Andrei Kovtoun-Stankovich announced:

"You may go any place at any time you wish in Mukden, with or without escort."

This brought to an end a period of more than two days of restricted movement, amounting to internment.

It was the first time since the war ended that Allied newsmen had been granted the privilege of entering this Soviet-occupied Manchurian city.

We found a city of 2,000,000 undergoing the pangs of inflation, with food prices four times higher today than six weeks ago.

This is a city where 85 per cent of the factories developed for Japan's war potential are idle, according to Russian sources.

We were told that 30,000 prostitutes roam the streets and frequent dance halls and cafes.

These municipal affairs are the direct concern of Mayor Tung Wei-Chi, central government appointee, and Police Chief Tai Hung-Tao, but both Chinese officials frequently consult the Soviet commanding general, Koryoun Stankevitch, whose estimated 6,000 to 7,000 veterans of Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian army control this city.

200 Fruit Growers At Annual Meeting

Members of the Columbiana and Mahoning County Fruit Growers' association held their annual meeting yesterday in the Columbiana high school auditorium with about 200 in attendance.

Floyd Lower, Columbiana county extension agent, his assistant, C. L. Roof, and J. C. Hedge, Mahoning county extension agent, were present. Hedge presided at the morning session and Lower in the afternoon.

Among problems facing fruit growers this year are labor, housing for imported labor, and machinery, mostly tractors.

T. H. Parks, C. C. Allison and P. H. Beach, all of Ohio State university, were among the speakers.

Parks spoke on "New Insecticides in the Fruit Program," and said that DDT would be an important factor but that it should be used with caution.

Allison's subject was "The Place of New Fungicides in the Fruit Program," and Beach's "Location and Soil Management of Orchards."

Beach spoke also on "Storage Management for Apples and Peaches," and "Pruning Peaches." F. S. Howlett of the Ohio Experiment station at Wooster spoke on "Alternate Bearing of Apples."

Herbert C. Neal of Cleveland and Charles Adams of East Palestine spoke on "Outlets for Off-Grade Apples."

J. N. Smucker of the Orrville apple processing plant was to have spoken on the same subject, but was unable to be present. H. D. Ross, manager of Smucker's branch at Salem, said the plant there would be devoted exclusively now to apple sauce, and that all other apple products would be processed at the Orrville plant. The Salem plant, he said, will have a capacity of 4,800 bushels a day.

GANDHI URGES END OF RIOTS

Some Civil Disorders Continue; 210 Are Killed, 1,200 Injured

(By Associated Press)

BOMBAY, Feb. 23.—The British announced breaking of the Royal Indian navy mutiny both ashore and afloat at Bombay today amid continuing civil disorders.

As strikes developed here and in Calcutta Mohandas K. Gandhi appealed to his countrymen to end "this thoughtless orgy of violence."

Casualties in Bombay since the beginning of the riots Thursday were estimated from city hospital reports to total 210 killed and more than 1,200 injured. Of these 75 civilians were killed and 250 injured today up to 4 p. m. (5:30 a. m. Eastern Standard time). Two constables were killed and 50 policemen were wounded.

British troops and Indian police battled street mobs.

Situation Improved

"On the whole," said a British communique issued in Bombay, "the situation shows improvement. Today's rioting occurred in some areas of the city and there has been serious rioting in the mill area."

General headquarters in New Delhi announced that the striking Indian seamen, numbering almost 12,000, both in barricaded barracks in Bombay and aboard a score of small war vessels in the harbor had yielded unconditionally at 9 a. m. (10:30 p. m. Friday night Eastern Standard time).

A communique issued later by Lt. Gen. R. M. Lockhart's advanced headquarters here said the mutineer-held vessels had signified their "desire to surrender unconditionally."

Gandhi, spiritual leader of India's millions of untouchables and an advocate of passive means to gain nationalist ends, issued at Poona his appeal for an end to violence. He said the "mutiny in the navy and what is following is not in any sense of the term non-violent action."

Fire On Rioters

Police said they had fired several times this morning on rioters attacking persons and property.

Police and military personnel conceded that the situation was dangerous. Police Commissioner H. E. Butler said conditions were "troublesome very troublesome."

By mid-morning, crowds were surging through the business district, looting banks and shops.

Fires were started in the central section of the city and fire engines raced through the streets. Armored cars were used in a vain attempt to restore order. Gunfire cracked repeatedly.

A British communique said the Indian naval mutineers surrendered unconditionally at 9 a. m. and the surrender had been accepted.

The Three R's

It becomes plainer as reconversion continues that Washington has gone back to its prewar notion that reform should come first.

The battle between reform and recovery that occupied the country's attention before 1940 has moved to a new front. It is now a battle between reform and reconversion.

During the war the reformers granted a truce in order to get the maximum production needed to make this the "arsenal of democracy." Business and industry welcomed a chance to show what they could do in a favorable instead of a critical atmosphere. They performed miracles of production.

But the reformers had been so little changed in their opinions that even before the war ended they were getting ready to put enterprise back on political probation. They went back to their former habit of discounting its potentialities.

Yet, the potentialities were so great and were translated into action so rapidly that the postwar slump which Washington glumly predicted never materialized. It took an epidemic of strikes and a gunned-up government procedure for setting prices under authority held over from the war emergency to keep business and industry from shifting into peacetime operation without any important loss of momentum.

In the curious manner of politicians' logic, the fact that momentum has been lost, though not to a serious degree, now is being pointed to as proof that there must be henceforth more, not less, government control.

Chief spokesman for this point of view is Chester Bowles. To those who declare from their own experience that price controls are interfering with the production which alone can stave off inflation, Mr. Bowles replies, "Nonsense. During the war industrial and farm production under price control rose fully five times as much as in World War I. . . . Let's forget this propaganda talk about price controls making production impossible."

Mr. Bowles, in his testimony before Congress last week, looks forward to more, not fewer, government controls. To price controls still existing he would add production controls. It is plain that Mr. Bowles, who has been given authority as national stabilization director, thinks of stabilization in terms of making private enterprise walk a Washington chalk line—apparently the same wavering line laid down by the prewar New Dealers.

Those who have studied trends in the capital since March 1933 have found evidence of three or four separate New Deals, each built on the same premise—that the federal government had a monopoly on the right ideas about private enterprise and no others need apply. The talking points changed, but the fundamental purpose always was the same. As between spokesmen for business and politicians, the politicians had all the answers.

Is Mr. Bowles the spokesman now for a new New Deal? His talking points are a little different, but the old text has bobbed up again: He who crosses opinions with a federal bureaucrat is a dirty something-or-other.

. . . And You're Another

Moscow's official answer to the Canadian spy scare story is that some of its representatives did obtain secret information in Canada, that the information was of no importance and the Canadian government is running an anti-Soviet campaign.

Obviously, it doesn't matter what the Canadian government is running, as far as the spy angle of the story is concerned. The Russian government's representatives were caught filching information, and getting caught is the unforgivable sin in espionage. Yelling, "—and you're another!" doesn't help matters. But it's an old Communist custom.

For example, the party's spokesmen recently have been working it overtime to show resentment of American observations on their recent one-party election and Premier Stalin's pre-election speech promising Russia military strength second to none. A Moscow correspondent of The New York Times reported that in the Moscow press, as a result, the 99.18 per cent vote for the unopposed ruling bloc candidates was compared individually with American elections, in which about half the voters are in opposition, and Walter Lippman was called a tool of big business for mentioning the obvious intent of Stalin's speech. It appears sometimes that in international relations as in racial relations within our own country the heaviest handicap is bad manners.

Upright Intentions

In musings about George Washington on the anniversary of his birth, one could wish that school children especially might know more about his discouragements.

The obstacles put in his path of public duty by inferiors who neither understood nor wanted to understand what he was trying to do would have been too much for a man of ordinary determination. The measure of Washington's greatness is not the fact he was the first president and a great soldier, but the fact he continued to serve his countrymen when they gave him so many excuses to turn against them for their ignorance and ingratitude.

His strength was drawn from upright intentions which excluded concern over the intentions of men whose eyes were fixed on lesser goals. When discouraged over the failure of his contemporaries to support or even to comprehend his purpose in fighting for the independence of the colonies, he was discouraged for them more than for himself. He felt they often were unworthy of the war to give them freedom, but he did not let that turn him from his own clear course of duty to win the war and, later, to accept the presidency.

Time has tested everything about George Washington. His stature is not bestowed by emotion but by judgment—the kind of judgment that reserves its highest awards for a man's integrity in adversity.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, February 24.

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds conflicting aspects, in which excellent prospects are defeated or subject to a sudden and devastating visitation, staggering and possibly violent. It might be an accident, a vicious attack, or nervous breakdown, brought on by hurts, criticism, separations or sudden losses.

Superiors or elders, even close friends or ties are wanting in cooperation or sympathy. Take it easy, use tact and finesse and thus shun the brunt of the blow.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of conflict, defeat and crisis of a sudden and unpredictable nature. Upsetting all plans and purposes, it might postpone all enterprises and initiative for a passing period of devastating or disintegrating forces. It might be owing to accident, estrangement on adverse business associations or of romantic ties, in which little sympathy or understanding may be expected.

Loss, change, and reconstructive methods might be undertaken with calm and philosophic attitudes or beliefs, and with finesse, poise in any needful contacts. Even an inspired thought or intuitive urge may avert any calamitous situation.

A child born on this day will have much creative ability and intuition, and its philosophic inspirations might avert trouble in its contacts and circumstances in life.

For Monday, February 25.

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is one in which a serious, profound and concentrated marshalling of the forces and faculties, may be the means of turning aside a difficult situation and opening the way for definite achievement in mending critical affairs as developing opportunities along the way of progress and expansion. Much reflection, logic and sound sense should bring about this happy condition. Be wise with contracts and propositions.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which a clever, serious and concentrated marshalling of all the forces, faculties, ideas and assets might break up certain critical or static conditions to make way for definite progress and production in possibly new fields where sound ambitions and constructive abilities support advanced objectives.

Much reflection, with sound resources and cautious handling of contracts and agreements might further cherished hopes and wishes. Push forward slowly, surely, but sagaciously.

A child born on this day has much ability and ambition. It should enjoy a successful career and happy life, if it weighs its ways, plans and acumen with purpose and decision.

Most women have a keen sense of humor. The more you humor them the better they like it.

Use of Penicillin In Ear Infections

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THOSE of us who are not bothered with ear troubles are fortunate indeed and we should always protect the ear as much as possible. But, unfortunately, injury to the external ear canal occurs only too often and may bring on, among other troubles, a condition known as otitis externa, which is inflammation of the hair roots and fat glands lining the outer ear canal.

This infection seems more likely to occur during the swimming season and more often in those swimming in fresh-water lakes and rivers than in those swimming in salt water. Following diving, a swimmer will often endeavor to "unstop" his ear by scratching or digging into it. This may result in injury to the glands and hair roots, thus opening the way for infection.

Another cause is injuries which occur when trying to remove wax from the ear.

Infection Starts

In a number of patients observed by Dr. Morgan B. Raiford of Virginia, the infection started with a fungus known as the Aspergillus and then a secondary infection with staphylococcus germs followed. In the patients who swam in salt water no fungus was present, and the severity of the staphylococcus infection was not as great.

The symptoms varied in degree. Most of the patients had pain while chewing their food and discomfort on swallowing. There was some redness and swelling about the tissues of the ear canal. The lymph glands in the angle of the jaw also became swollen and tender. Upon examination, a number of small pimples were seen in the ear canal. In some instances fever as high as 103.2 degrees developed.

Gentle Cleaning

The usual method of treatment consisted in gently cleaning the area with cotton applicators and then using sulfathiazole ointment. The average duration of treatment was 11 days. A number of the patients were treated with a solution of penicillin.

The solution was dropped from a sterile medicine dropper onto a cotton wick which had been placed in the ear. The solution was dropped into the ear every two hours, while in addition the penicillin was given by injection into a muscle every three hours for 48 hours.

With this method of treatment, symptoms were relieved in from 12 to 18 hours and in those instances in which the condition was so severe as to require hospitalization, the time of hospitalization was cut in half.

It would appear that the penicillin form of treatment for infections of the outer ear canal is most effective.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. L. P.: What is meant by arteriosclerotic degenerative changes? Is there any remedy?

Answer: By this term is meant changes which occur in various tissues due to disturbance of the circulation resulting from hardened arteries. Whether or not there is anything which can be done about the condition would depend upon the extent of damage which has occurred.

C. M.: Is there such a thing as inflammation of the ovaries? What is it like?

Answer: Inflammation of the ovary does occur and may produce pain within the abdomen and some disturbance of the periods. It would be a good plan to consult a specialist in gynecology for examination and treatment.

Nets Seven Million Profit

Lidice Film Presented As Evidence In Crimes Trial

NUERNBERG, Germany, Feb. 23.—Movies of high S. S. officers strutting among the ruins of Lidice and grinning as they watched workmen blasting and hauling away the last visible traces of that Czechoslovak town were presented at the war crimes trial today.

The pictorial story of the wiping out of Lidice, which became the symbol for many European cities and towns left in ashes by the Nazis, was the Germans' own product. This captured film was presented in evidence before the international military tribunal by the Soviet prosecution.

Soviet prosecutors earlier introduced a secret German army order which said the Nazi high command was determined in 1941 to destroy Moscow and Leningrad even if Russia offered to surrender.

Patricia Bolen Is Bride In Pretty Home Wedding

Only the immediate families witnessed the nuptials when Miss Patricia Bolen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bolen of Home Circle, and John R. Kruse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Kruse of Toledo, were married at 10 a. m. today at the home of the bride's parents.

Weds Salem Man Jan. 16 In Montana

Baskets of roses and white chrysanthemums blanketed the fireplace and the soft glow of candles lighted the room when Miss Ruth L. Troxel of Billings, Mont., and Richard Frederick Smith, son of Mrs. C. E. Smith, W. Second st., exchanged their wedding vows at 1 p. m. Wednesday, Jan. 16, at the bride's home.

Miss Marilou Barickman presided at the musical setting for the wedding with the piano numbers, "The Wedding Song," "Intermezzo" and "The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin." Miss Betty Forquer, accompanied by Miss Barickman, sang, "Ain't Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Because."

Misses Fay and Betty Troxel, sisters of the bride, were the bridesmaids and stood with the wedding party as the single ring ceremony was read by Rev. Arthur G. Adams.

William Lemmer was the best man. The bride chose for her wedding dress in a very light blue shade ornamented with pearl sequins. She wore a pearl pin that belonged first to her grandmother and then to her mother.

Fay Troxel was dressed in a light shade of brown and wore a bronze chrysanthemum corsage. Betty Troxel wore a dress in a soft shade of violet and her corsage was of bronze chrysanthemums.

Right Dress Aids Too Short Neck

MIMI BERRY: Queenly carriage.

Stop fretting because your neck seems too short to wear choker beads, dog collars or high-climbing scarves. Remember that your time to shine comes at night when the long-necked girls won't look as ravishing as you do in off-shoulder gowns.

Wear your party-going frock as low-cut as you like. The expanse of exposed shoulders will give the illusion of all the added inches that you want your neck to have. Using the same shade of foundation-tint and powder for your neck and shoulders as you do for your face will also help to put this illusion across.

Hollywood-trained actresses say the studio experts don't worry about how short or long a girl's neck is, but how well she carries her head. A tip from one actress who carries her head as proudly as a queen—Mimi ("The Bamboo Blonde") Berry—is one to remember. Mimi says that in order to keep her neck out of her shoulders she tries to walk, stand and sit as though an unseen hand were pulling her hair at the crown of her head.

MACKENZIE'S Column

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

HERFORD, Germany, Feb. 23.—One of the difficult problems of the Allied forces of occupation in Germany has been the position of the large number of displaced persons from other countries.

These "DP's," as the British soldiers call them, were mostly Hitler's slave labor and prisoners of war. In this zone there originally were 2,450,000 who had to be housed, clothed, fed and kept warm. A million of these were Russians and another half million were Poles, the rest being mainly Italians, Dutch and French.

British authorities have repatriated all but 450,000 of these unfortunate folk and would repatriate the rest gladly.

But most of these displaced persons don't want to go home at this time. The majority of them are Poles and they are holding back mainly for economic reasons, although some say they are fearful on political grounds.

The authorities expect most of them will be ready to go back in the spring when the weather is good, but in the meantime they represent a half million mouths to feed in a Germany which already is struggling with a food, fuel and housing shortage.

Mrs. Mack and I encountered a most interesting cross-section of DP's in the barracks. Some half of them are Jews who were political prisoners in the Nazi murder camps. The members of this colony live in small groups in the rooms of the many barracks buildings. They are provided with all necessities and get better food rations than are allowed Germans.

Those who were prisoners in the awful concentration camps get special privileges, for many of them are in weakened condition. There are schools for the children, and the DP's run them. Some of these folk work outside for the British and get better pay than the Germans.

Mrs. Mack and I talked with a number of groups among them one crowd of young Polish Jews, both boys and girls. We asked if they wanted to go back to Poland and there was a unanimous and ringing "No." "We want to go to Palestine," they chorused. Some want to be farmers. Others don't care so much what they do so long as they get to Palestine.

One young Polish Jew, an electrician, and his wife, however, were anxious to get back home and by this time are on their way. They were among some 400 DP's who were being sent back to Poland at their request.

The British are prepared to repatriate all DP's as fast as they ask for it but there is no inclination to force anybody to go home against his will.

We took a look at the site of the Belsen concentration camp and saw the great graves in which are buried thousands of murdered people.

The camp itself has been leveled and about the only thing left standing is the steel incinerator which the Nazis were said to have used to burn Russian prisoners alive.

In contemplating this horror one couldn't help recalling that the British now are conducting police schools in which men are being

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

Q. My wife and I are interested in getting one of these ready-made houses the government is talking about. We have a lot out in the country where my father lives. When we can get a house about how much would one with three bedrooms cost?

A. Under the proposed program the house you want shouldn't cost more than $5,000. This doesn't include freight from the factory and cost of erecting it, however.

Q. Suppose a veteran has the money and can buy a prefabricated house. How will he be able to put it up alone if there is nobody available to help him?

A. It is proposed that before a manufacturer is allowed to offer a prefabricated house for sale he must guarantee to have the services available for delivering it as well as putting it up.

Q. Both my brother and I are veterans. We have several acres of land just outside of town. We want to have it used for emergency veterans' housing but it doesn't have sewer or water connections. Will the government help us get the utilities to our land?

A. As the government program now stands, it will be up to the community to help get utilities to outlying lands and generally provide the space for the houses. But if your particular problem, as applied to the rest of the country, becomes serious, the government will probably have to step in on that angle also.

Q. Will the government insure mortgages for more than half the value of a housing loan?

A. To aid housing construction the government's new program would assure mortgages for builders up to 90 per cent. This has nothing to do with the program for loans for veterans. Veterans would get their loans and have them guaranteed as usual. The other program would be between the builder or the person from whom you bought the house, and the government. It does not affect your transaction with Veterans Administration.

Palmers Operate A Million Dollar Packaging Firm

F. D. Palmer, and his son, Charles "Chiz" Palmer, of Chicago, former Salem residents, are making history in the package manufacturing industry with their innovations as heads of Frank D. Palmer, Inc., and Palmer Development Laboratories in Chicago.

The two men are leading the companies they founded in developing new package manufacturing machines almost daily, with results that have brought nationwide attention to their products.

Frank Palmer, who was associated with the International Silver Co. as a sales manager when in Salem, conceived the idea of improving machinery for mechanical handling of food products in 1938.

Idea "Clicks" He happened to tell his story to J. L. Kraft, head of the Kraft cheese plants, who became interested in a machine for wrapping process cheese and sealing it instantly and hermetically.

Palmer made a model for Kraft out of Beaver board and other substitutes for steel and in crude form proved the basic principles he had in mind.

These were made into blueprints, from which a final machine was assembled. Soon Palmer had obtained orders to equip all Kraft plants.

Came the war, and the Navy needed instrument panels for ground training of flight engineers. The Palmers made 115 panels for four different ship types. Then the Army asked them to build training panels for the B-29.

One of their latest products is a machine for making a sift-proof food carton.

Package manufacturers for years have been trying to make a simple, sift-proof carton that could be turned out mechanically at high speed rates. "Packing Parade," the trade journal, says the Palmers have done so "positively."

Aid Seven Industries

There are many other Palmer products: Machines for making paper milk bottles, for packaging ice cream and all types of cheese. Mechanical bands shape, fold and seal and seal a carton under the Palmer system.

Now, with orders amounting to millions of dollars, father and son are building machines for many new customers in seven major industries. In the food field their experiments are expanding to include products which can be mechanically cut and sorted, as well as packaged.

The Palmer family formerly resided on E. Fourth st. Several of the children attend school in Salem, Charles graduating in 1935. He was a member of the Salem High varsity basketball team that year.

Sebring Downed, 41-29, By Salem In Season Finale Here

Quakers Begin In Blaze, Finish Unimpressively As Bob Pager Nets 21 Points

A whirlwind beginning and a fizzle finish—without particular danger at any time—last night carried Coach Bob Miller's Quakers, the district's most surprising basketball squad, to its 10th victory in 18 games, 41-29, over a threatening Sebring Trojan outfit before more than 1,000 fans at the High school gym.

The game was the finale of the regular season for both schools. Breezing along at a terrific pace in the early part of the game, the locals looked like world-beaters for most of two quarters and then slowed down into a mediocre appearing club.

Typical of the Salem performance was Bob Pager's game. The lanky Sophomore dumped in six field goals and three fouls in the first half for a 15 point total.

After the Trojans slipped from a wide-open zone defense into a tighter man-to-man, Pager was unable to hit the hoop from the floor for the rest of the evening. His 21 point game total was reached with six foul shots in the second half.

The Quakers cashed in on 15 field goals last night, but 12 of them were made in the first two periods, one in the third and a pair in the fourth.

Sebring, never particularly impressive, got five of their 11 two-pointers in the first half.

Salem trailed once in the ball game and the count was knotted twice, all in the early minutes. After the Quakers went ahead, 6-4, however, Sebring never seriously threatened.

By the close of the first period it was 14-4 with Quaker power looking about as potent as it ever has this year. The pace simmered down in the second as Miller switched from his starting five to install Ben Brudery and Lowell Myers into the lineup.

The switch resulted in little gain, however, and the starters were back in before halftime, when Salem was in front, 27-13.

The third period saw Jimmie Laughlin, Mo Hollinger, Pager, Tony Martinelli and John Pridon start in at the jump.

Myers came into the game midway in the third and the tallest Salem five finished the quarter. The third was the only period in which the Trojans, paced by the amazing mid-floor accuracy of Dick Brunie, outscored Salem, 9-6.

Brunie's uncanny ability to zip them through from the center line paid off for six of his seven field goals. His other two-pointers was on a high arched one-hander as he whizzed by the foul line.

Salem began to display a slight edge over Sebring again in the fourth, outscoring the visitors, 8-7, with two field goals and a quartet of fouls.

Salem's effectiveness was most evident in the first period when they connected on nine of 15 shots from the floor. The shots, not particularly sensational, were simply the result of neat ball handling against the Trojan zone defense.

When the man-to-man came into effect against the locals in the second, it seemed far more efficient despite the fact that Salem shooting went on a definite down grade from then until the finish.

Martinelli again displayed clever passing ability, steady floor play and a disturbing defensive game. He, Laughlin and both made a smooth back court passing combination against the zone, moving the ball fast and sure so that Pager and Hollinger were able to clear themselves time and time again.

Capt. Hollinger continued his supreme rebounding game and at the same time connected on two set shots from the corner.

Salem hit 11 of 24 foul shots, Sebring eight of 23.

LEE OMA REQUESTS JOB AS ALTERNATE IN TITLE CONTEST

Detroit Thumper Stops Lesnevich On TKO In Four Heats

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Now that he has knocked off Light-Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich, leaping Lee Oma came up today with the idea of being designated as "alternate" for Billy Conn in the June heavyweight title fight with Joe Louis.

The Detroit thumper who fights like a fellow chasing flies figures this alternate idea is a good thing. "Suppose," he supposed, "something should happen to Billy. If Mike Jacobs makes me the alternate, I'd be ready to go in a minute."

Oma delivered the gift personally in Madison Square Garden last night on Gus' 30th birthday. It was a right hand poke which opened a gash so deep under Gus' left eye in the fourth round that the state athletic commission physician wouldn't let him come out for the fifth. It was definitely not the friendly way to help anyone celebrate a birthday, as the 16,087 customers, who paid $74,682 to see it happen, will attest.

For two rounds, Lesnevich, making his first New York start after four years in the coast guard, played the big drum on Lee's tummy with hard hooks and digging rights.

While this was going on Lee wasn't doing much except to put his weird style of walling on display. This involves walking around the ring, sometimes with his back to his opponent and always with his hands at his sides, then suddenly turning, flicking a long left and lifting a hard fast right cross to the head. Asked afterward why he works this way, Lee admitted he's a "lazy guy." There's no doubt he fights like one.

He finally got the mechanisms of this meandering mauling working in the third last night, then gave Gus all the acts in the fourth.

Fairfield Reaches Sectional Tourney

Coach Atley Freshley's Fairfield High Comets qualified themselves for a berth in the Youngstown sectional tourney last night at Lisbon as they handed New Waterford a 64-24 pasting in the finals of the Columbiana county tournament.

After a slow first period which saw Fairfield leading by 10-5, the Comets got their attack hitting on all cylinders to rack up 22 points in the second quarter, 19 more in the third and 13 in the finale.

Tommy Grubbs was the main cog in the drive once again as he connected 10 times from the field and added two more tallies at the foul stripe for a 22 point total. "Blondie" Bland registered 13, Hess flipped in 12 and Daley netted 11.

New Waterford was never in the game after the first few minutes, trailing by counts of 10-5, 32-12 and 51-19 at the quarters.

In the reserve finals, the Salineville Jayvees posted a 42-22 win over the Fairfield seconds.

Coach John Cabas' Five Defeats East Palestine 44-34 In Slow Contest

Columbiana annexed its third straight Tri-County league championship, won its 11th straight victory and its 14th in 15 tries at East Palestine last night, defeating Coach Bob Alkenhead's Bulldogs quintet, 44-34, in a sluggish contest before a capacity crowd.

Hindered by "strepitis" last night, the Clippers were never headed by the Bulldogs, but saw the losers within six points of them as the fourth quarter began.

The victory clinched the Tri-County championship for Columbiana, unbeaten in league play for three straight seasons. Only Dayton Northridge, 1945 state champions, have edged the Clippersmen this year in 15 games.

Columbiana stepped into a commanding 13-4 lead in the first quarter and outscored the Bulldogs 11-7 in the second to lead 24-11 at intermission time.

Unable to go with their usual smoothness and high scoring attack, the Clippers were out-run, 15-8, in the third as East Palestine made a mild threat.

Rich Berryman, ace Clipper defensive man, turned in one of his top offensive shows last night, caging five field goals and three fouls for 13 points. Lanky Don Eschenwein, a danger mark for next year's opponents, collected 12.

Clippers Pick Up
After leading 32-26 as the final frame began, Columbiana began to recover and out-did the losers, 12-8, in the final to win going away.

The Clippers put in 10 of 21 free throws. East Palestine made six of 15 good for points.

The Columbiana reserves won their season's finale, also, rallying to take the Bulldogs, 35 to 29. The victory is the 10th in a row for the youngsters and their 14th in 15 games.

Coach Waldo Ward's Junior High squad laid East Palestine's, 26 to 12, in the first game.

Cinderella

As a tribute to her courage in winning a seemingly hopeless fight for life, 10-year-old Bernice Morgan of Mobile, Ala., will be the official Miss Cinderella of that city's 1946 Mardi Gras celebration. Six years ago she fell ill of a rare and progressively maiming disease, which, for months did not respond to treatment. The Mobile Press Register learned of her plight and made an appeal for funds for medical care which brought generous response from Mobilians and citizens of neighboring counties and states. Slowly she fought through and conquered the dread blood disease. Today smiling, rosy-cheeked and healthy, she awaits her big moment at Mobile's first postwar revival of mystic merry-making.

Peng Yi-Sheng are in the western section of the city, awaiting orders. Peng's headquarters, incidentally, are within a block of Red army headquarters on Chirshan (central) circle, where a Japanese monument celebrates the victory over Russia in 1904.

In contrast to many parts of North China, there are no Japanese troops to be seen in Mukden. There were 60,000 here when Kowtown-stankovitch's men entered the city by plane and truck Aug. 19, 1945 and caught Henry Pu Yi, puppet emperor, about to skip for Japan by plane.

Now all Japanese troops are gone. The Russian commander prefers not to say where, but reports circulating here are that none were repatriated to Japan—that all able-bodied men were sent to Siberia or Russia to work on mines and railways.
